WE NOMINATE

Herbert Smith Bailey Jr., one of the Princeton Community's long-working and long-visioned citizens—a member of the newly constituted Princeton Regional Board of Education, the catalyst for the so-called "Bailey Report" of 1964 and director and editor of Princeton University Press. As key as Bailey's contributions are to the programs he and his equally dedicated associates are shaping for the development of the Borough's and Township's merged schools, it is as one of the country's perceptive publishers that this 45-year old native of New York City is returning to TOWN TOPICS' front page for the second time in this decade.

In an era when there is "wild speculation about the effects on publishing of new technologies, especially computer technology," and when publishing houses are merging with electronics empires (for example, Random House with RCA), Bailey has taken a hard look at this industry and at systems which are perfectable within the next quarter-century. He urges authors and publishers to join the technological revolution in the belief that "with intelligence and planning the new technologies can be used to make good books as ubiquitous as television, to our great cultural benefit" — and yet without creating a wasteland such as television with "its almost unbroken expanse of trivia and pap."

With characteristic candor, whether writing for "Saturday Review" or in discussions, Bailey paints boldly. "What a publisher sells," he stresses, "is not a book but the image of a book. Currently he sells this image as printed paper and bound in cloth or paper at a single manufacturing establishment; in the future he will usually sell the image as reproduced on copying machines at many locations, by remote or local control, on demand. Forward-looking publishers should now begin to develop systems that will allow them to maintain control over the image that they and the author have produced, requiring payment that will recompense both author and publisher, providing incentive for further effort."

While guiding the independent University Press through a dramatic expansion, Bailey, a member of the Advisory Committee on Publication to the Atomic Energy Commission and an officer of the American Book Publishers Council and the Association of American University Presses, has been deeply involved in education and youth programs. A "corrector" in the Township's English Composition Program, working with 7th and 8th graders from 1961 through 1964, and a Boy Scout leader for the past decade, he chaired in 1963 and 1964 the Citizens Committee on Long-Range School Planning for Princeton Township which advocated Township and Borough regionalization.

Bailey was the youngest head of a front-rank university press in this country when named in 1954 as successor to Datus C. Smith Jr. An honors graduate with the Princeton Class of 1942, and a Navy radar specialist in World War II, he brought to the post a remarkable amalgam of abilities. His background, ranging from his studies as an "English major" at Princeton to seven years as the Press' Science Editor, has enabled him to collaborate with physicists and mathematicians, to scan scientific manuscripts from the point of view of the humanist, and to "exercise editorial discrimination independent of publish-or-perish pressures or financial considerations" in the merry-go-round of publishing.

For emphasizing that through books universities and their faculties reach infinitely greater numbers than they can ever hope to teach; for his understanding of the challenges confronting publishing as its structure changes; for his service to Princeton and to the profession of scholarship; he is our nominee as

ARE TEENS CHANGING?

Some Perinatal Answers.
Rogers Carrington entered the teenage scene here in the fall of 1961, after graduating from Princeton Seminary.

A widening circle of teenagers has found him a source of moral support, a sounding board, a friend, guide and good companion. As director of Youth Associates (formerly Young Life) at 30 Nassau Street, he has baited them out of trouble, encouraged their dreams and acted as mediator between parent and child.
There's many a project at Princeton schools, churches and in the community which developed from a germ of an idea at one of his club sessions.

TOWN TOPICS asked Mr.
Carrington to express his views on a number of fundamental questions about today's younger generation. These are his answers.

Q. Are the old authorities losing their grip on the teenager?

A. Something happened in the late Forties and Fifties that has severely changed the situation between adults and teenagers. Something radically different from anything that we, or our parents have experienced. Two motion pictures dramatized this change. "Rebel Without a Cause" showed the breakdown in suburban family relationships and the new importance of the teenager's friends, his gang.

Then, "The Blackboard

"TEENAGERS LIVE IN TWO WORLDS, their own, and the adult world," says Rogers Carrington, who first became their friend nearly five years ago on the Princeton High School playing fields. "Most of us hear about their private world and fear it. We know teenagers primarily as they relate to our world." Story, this page. (Ullin Sletten Photo)

Junior" brought out the breakdown of authority in the schools and the informal codes of teen behavior that have replaced the adult value systems.
Their codes may apply to only one or a few groups. Today, teachers are regarded as one voice among many.

Q. What about the churches?
A. Life in the teenage community is throbbing. Nothing radical is going to happen where the church is concerned until the church comes out and works with us to develop ways of teenage leadership.

Q. What do you know, fact-ually, about this?

A. I know that only 9% of the Princeton teenagers pulled by Gallup and Robinson in 1963 were involved in a religious activity for more than an hour a week. About 25% of 30% of those who signed up for our summer projects this year are not church related in any way.

Those who are, estimate their church involvement at a 3-4-10 scale of values.
Basically, we're dealing with the non-church-goer or the lapsed church member.

Q. Who has authority?

A. Mainly, their peers. The peer group provides some isolation while they are discovering new values. The teenager says to himself, "I am not seeking individually in a futile way. There is an other person I can become but this is going to cost so much."

Many teenagers were later joined with "The Green Beret

when it came out several years ago. Here is the whole man, totally trained, working in an area where he is not influenced by the past generation. In the process of struggle, he becomes a man and helps others realize their potential.

Q. Are there several clear-cut types of teenager?

A. Last year—the character of this town is so fluid that I have to note the year—they came in three basic varieties.
One group was "concerned about things, held jobs, was motivated. The benefit of this is that they had direction. The danger is that they may not have been as aware of some of the possibilities of this age.

They were perhaps too eager to accept the values of adults.
At the other end was the group that decided the goals of adults are irresponsible and they spent 80% of their time in the worthless occupation of rebellion instead of reating for something important to them, such as, what are the possibilities for this new generation.

And there was a middle group. To them it was not important to be committed to anything. They had a parasite existence.

Consciously or subconscien-tly, they knew they had about two years to live in this oblivion. It would have been a comfort, if they had thrown a brick through a window just in show that they were alive.

Q. What did you mean when you said "something has happened."

A. When you think about it, today's family is scattered into the community, or outside of it, for work, service, education and relaxation. Teenagers find parental figures at home, yes, if the emphasis is on the quality of time spent together.

not the number of hours, and not through solitary chores, the dirty jobs.

Teachers are having to assume new roles and responsibilities. It is not enough to say that smoking is against the rules. They also have to explain who made the rule and why it can't be changed.

Some teachers still feel that education should take place between 8:10 and 3:10. Others see extracurricular time with teenagers as their best opportunity to make the class room lessons real in life situations. They gain a new kind of authority out of respect, not because of position.

Q. What else?
A. In science, Newton's laws are interesting ancient history. In literature, they are taught to think carefully to test the validity of ideas in life situations. History, as we learned it, is factual. Now it is relative, and teenagers understand that they are only reading someone else's interpretation of what happened.

All of this has a way of developing a real skepticism of all authorities. As a father said to me, "When I tell my daughter she can't go out, I know it will mean we will all disagree and talk about it and it'll be like a conference at the United Nations."

Q. What is important to the teens today?

A. They care about the interrelationships of people—including parents. They weigh, "What kind of a person am I becoming?"

One girl said to me, "Do you mean what I know I am going to be like when I am 50 like my mother, or do you mean what I would like to be?"

Q. Do parents understand this?

A. Some do, wonderfully. Yet the father who has adjusted to many technological changes in his job during recent years sometimes, keeps the old ways alive at home because they give him a feeling of security.

Q. What do teens need from their parents?

A. Teenagers are likely to take on more responsibility than their parents could imagine. They need parents who will decide with them the very few boundaries as to hours, kinds of dates, and so on. The parent is risking, but at the same time he is breeding responsibility. It boils down to a courteous consideration of one another's rights.

Today's teenager, as John Wood of the National Council of Churches once said, faces problems of his hard choices, where money and dad are not, have never been and could not imagine themselves to be.

TOPICS Of The Town

"DILATORY TACTICS"
Regional Board Charges
Montgomery Township Board of Education was accused on Tuesday by the Princeton Regional Board of "dilatory tactics" in removing its students from Princeton High School.

The Regional Board also received a letter from W. Bradford Craig, president of the West Windsor school board, stating that West Windsor hopes to build its own high school by 1970, the year its sending district contract expires.

Dr. Harvey Rothberg, Regional Board president, implied at Tuesday's public meeting that Plainsboro and Rocky Hill will also be asked to withdraw their students. In answer to a question from a Rocky Hill resident, he said,
"I have no further comment on Rocky Hill and Plainsboro until we have had an opportunity to communicate with them. We plan to do so in the near future." Both districts' contracts expire in 1968.

"In A Nutshell," Dr. Roth-berg said in a prepared statement, "Princeton High School was built to accommodate 1500 students. We now have an enrollment of 1,800 students, squeezed into the main building and six relocatable C.I.T.
temporary classrooms."

"This building can comfortably contain all the high school children of Princeton Borough and Princeton Township in the predictable future.
But it cannot accommodate the cutting sending districts much longer. That is the problem is a nutshell."

NEXT AT THE CATACOMB: Paul Elsler's jazz quintet rehearses for its 9:30 and 10:30 performances this Thursday at the Catacomb. Members are John Heles, a Princeton graduate student, on flue, Jim Lesler, at the Piano, a PHS alumnus, he is also a concert flutist; Princeton undergraduate Javier

Band in September, also saxophone, and Bob Lehman, first of Education Frederick Rau-singer, Dr. Rothberg said.

"The fact is that if they do not begin to think and act more realistically and responsibly in their planning for the future, then two 'generations' of high school children will suffer as a consequence of their dilatory tactics."

Double Sessions. Montgomery will have an estimated 554 high school students in 1970, Dr. Rothberg said. The sending district proposed two months ago to begin withdrawal of its students in the fall of 1967, with all students phased out by 1971-72.

"This schedule would result in about 2,110 students in Princeton High School in 1979, a figure which Mr. Michael assures me means a double session," Montgomery now proposes to postpone its withdrawal until 1968, to the Regional Board's alarm. It hopes to complete a new high school by 1970.

After 65 Years, West Windior, a Princeton sending district since 1901, "is fully aware of the necessity of moving ahead as quickly as possible with planning for our own high school facilities," Mr.
Craig wrote to the Regional Board.

"Our hope is to have a high school ready by 1970, but the plans must be drawn carefully and with full realization of the need to develop a strong secondary school system which will serve the needs of our township in the future."

formally notifying West Windsor that its contract would not be renewed in 1970, said that it would welcome an earlier phasing out of West Windsor youth and 10th grades.

Monor-kreeping. It was announced that high school guidance officers would be moved to the administrative wing of the building, where the Borough Board of Education offices were formerly located. This will free space for classroom use. Acting Superintendent John McKenney said Administrative staff will move to the Stony Brook Administration Building on Stockton Road.

Increased salaries were approved for some members of the administration. Dr. Rubenstein said it was not necessary to read the list. The raises were given in view of the individuals' increased responsibilities in the merging of the school districts.

Pupil enrollment as of June 30 was 5,988. Dr. McKenney reported. The figures include Community Park, 545; Junction Park, 314; John Witherspoon, 964; Littlebrook, 561; Riverside, 432; Valley Road, 156; Princeton High School, 1,797; ungraded 9, trainees 6; special schools 5. The John Witherspoon enrollment is 1,797.

shoot at capacity, a possible source of increasing admissions.
Dr. McKenney announced that a new organization table has been developed. Mrs. Dorothy Lammie, former principal of Nassau Street School, will serve as co-director of elementary curriculum in the district's elementary schools. Mrs. Roger McDougall will coordinate the school library services and Dr. Clark will supervise special service programs and Title I and other federal projects of a social or psychological nature.

Committees. The Regional Board has organized itself into four committees. Instruction-Professor Robert A. Lively, chairman, Mrs. Suzanne S. Freeman, Herbert S. Bailey Jr. and Mrs. Arthur Wagner. Regional Board personnel policies were approved. Board Secretary Norman Anderson announced the Township district ended the school year with a $79,773 surplus, $52,714 of which was set aside in the event that builder K&H Downs wins the contract dispute now before the mediation board.

Bring the rain.
Fields spring plowed.
Were seeded in vain.

Crops of all kinds are showing the adverse effect of the lack of rain. An inch fell last week, but it came quickly and much of it was lost in run-off.

Tuesday's predicted showers failed to materialize, despite the arrival of cooler air. Clear skies will continue through the weekend, temperatures will be no higher than normal, and rain? There's none to be had.

board in Philadelphia. Borough unexpended school funds amount to $171,001, although Finance Manager William Evans said that debt service, capital outlay earmarked for the John Witherspoon school and such items reduced the surplus to $112,000 in round numbers.

The board has behind it 26 days of intense activity. Coming up is the August 9 auction of Quarry Street School.

PDS PARKING DENIED

By Zoning Board. When the Princeton Day School was granted a special permit two months ago to build a skating rink on its campus, it told the Township Zoning Board of Adjustment that an existing 75-car parking lot would be able to handle the limited parking needs generated by the rink. Last week the Day School approached the Zoning Board to ask for a special permit to construct a 22-car lot adjacent to the rink with an entrance off the Great Road. The proposal was attacked by residents of the Great Road.

Robert Gullett said that the lot's traffic would create noise and be a general nuisance, not in keeping with the residential character of the neighborhood. Paul McKinney said it was "an other encroachment" of the neighborhood. The time to stop such things, he added, is now. In apparent agreement, the Board denied the request. It said that PDS had failed to demonstrate need for the parking lot.

In another application involving the Great Road, there were 11 in all heard by the board and acting chairman William Geddes—The Tenacre Foundation was granted a special permit for the construction of a staff residence building. Mr. McKinney voiced his opposition, saying that the granting of one variance after another was "creeping variances." The Foundation is located in a residential zone.

The board delayed taking action on a request from a group of developers from Trenton led by Louis Sotolick, who asked for a special permit to construct a nursing and convalescent home on five acres on Mount Lucas Road. The land is owned by Dr. Cornelius Joyce. Previously, the developers had obtained an amendment from Township Committee which would allow the land to be designated as a service zone.

David Deitz, Trenton attorney representing Mr. Sotolick, reported the nursing home would contain 100 beds to meet all state and federal requirements for convalescent homes. He said some 12-14 employees would be on duty during the day and half that number at night.

On other points, however, Mr. Deitz was less precise, namely, the design of the facility, parking and the pricing of a continuation of Herndon town Road. The board decided to postpone its decision until more specific information on the project was provided.

Car Rental Under Fire. Postponement was its decision again on the request of Princeton Maintenance to be allowed to continue its operation of car rental business, a side operation the firm was conducting in connection with Herk Rent-A-Car. Its rental cars are located adjacent to the Pearson Building on Route 206. Township Zoning officer Joseph Shinn had issued a cease and desist order to Princeton Maintenance based on a zoning provision that does not allow businesses that are conducive to noise or to the congregation of cars after dark to exist in a B-2 zone. The Pearson building is located in such a zone.

Bruce French, attorney for the maintenance firm, argued that the firm would be either dentist but by an assistant and his family, an arrangement requiring a variance. The dental offices themselves would be constructed in the form of an octagon. There would be parking for 10 cars.

A request for variances in lot areas and width by William H. Konietzko, 18 Denzies Avenue, to build a home on Providence Line was denied. Residents of Providence Line Road objected, pointing out that Mr. Konietzko should have obtained additional land from his father, to adjacent owner. The Board ruled that apparently there had been no attempt by Mr. Konietzko to acquire additional land from his father.

In another case, the board granted a special permit to Mr. Ruth Sharon, 50 Deer Path, to use her home to teach art. Mrs. Sharon operates Sharon Studio. It approved a side-yard variance to Carl E. Heim, 207 Mt. Lucas Road, to allow an existing roof overhang to remain and also granted a variance to permit construction of a one-story addition to the rear.

Also several variances to Mr. and Mrs. Olin D. McGowan, 12 Hare, for construction of a one-story addition to their house; to the Denzies Realty Co., 40 Witherspoon Street, for construction of new home at 158 Philip Drive, and to Princeton Construction Co., New Brunswick, for construction of new home on the Princeton-Kingston Road.

BASKETBALL BUFF: Tony O'Connor doesn't care when people say, "Hey, ball, where are you going with that boy?" He's only 15 months old, and with all the practice he's getting at the Harrison Street playground, some day he'll hit jump shots regularly from 30 feet out. Tony's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John D. O'Connor, 171 Harrison.

The agency only handled between 10 to 20 cars a day. The cars parked during the night on an average of 15, rented quietly. By any noise at night, he said, came from the Jack and Jill tenant of the Pearson Building.

Residents of nearby Laurel Road in support of Mr. Shinn's action. One described the area as looking like an automobile salesroom at night, and the "inevitable expansion" if the operation were allowed to remain.

William Sulphur, 6 Laurel Road, pointed out that the Zoning Board would not have any jurisdiction once the rental agency were permitted to exist.

The board made a recommendation to township Committee that a variance sought by Dr. Stephen Bender and Dr. Jack Roemer, both dentists, be granted. The two wish to build a three-story, 80,000 building containing dental facilities at 210-216 Harrison Street. Their offices are currently located at 100 Nassau Street.

According to their attorney, A.C. Reeves Hicks, a planned apartment in the building would be built.

What is "Troubled Hair?"

I call hair "troubled" when it suffers from any of the hazards which make it less beautiful than it should be. When hair looks dull or wispy, dry, harsh, thin, lifeless — when hair is hard to comb through after a shampoo — when you feel the ends prickly as you run your fingers down the hair shaft — when the sun has parched it, when cheap sprays and strong shampoos have dried it out — then hair is "troubled."

In severe cases, when the hair has become brittle, broken, matted or split; when the hair has lost its elasticity and feels gummy and spongy to the touch, then hair like this needs the rich benefits of professional oil and protein treatments. The treatment your hair needs, visit TAVENWOOD BEAUTY SALON, 50 Palmer Square West, or call 924-3883. We really care about your hair!

new Supreme Court ruling. Mrs. Hinds was committed to the Mercer County Jail without bail.

A second preliminary hearing has been scheduled for August 17, at which time Magistrate Tams will hear the evidence against Mrs. Hinds. Township Detective Fred Parlier said that she has been charged with three counts of homicide, pending an examination by a psychiatrist.

Moments after Mrs. Hinds had told desk officer Walter Esana, "I've just killed my children," I drowned them in both tubs," a patrol car and ambulance from the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad were on the scene. Ptl. David A. Funk and Ptl. Frank Roccaforte found David, four months, Mark, 18 months, and Zina, 4, in the tub. A fourth child, Stephen, was outside, playing at the time, according to police.

The two officers and John Hulman of the Newark Squad detected a faint heartbeat in David and gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. He was rushed to Princeton Hospital.

In a coma but died 11 hours later.

Police said that Mrs. Hinds is separated from her husband, Timothy. The children were staying with Mrs. Hinds and his sister at 16 Clay Street Saturday and Mrs. Hinds had picked them up to keep them for the afternoon.

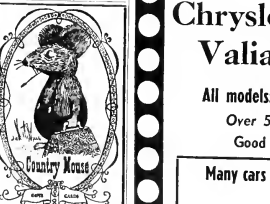

Private funeral services for the children were held at a Princeton funeral home, with the Rev. Martin Stokes, pastor of the Mount Pisgah AME Church officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery. Surviving are the children's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Graham; their paternal grandfather, P. u l Hinds; their maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Wooding; and their paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Sophia Hinds, all of Princeton.

FIRE GUTS BUILDING

In Cranbury, A three-alarm fire swept through the Tri-County Lumber and Supply Company on Route 139 in Cranbury on Friday, destroying the interior of the main building. The company's owner, Erwin H. Dreifus of 31 Crestview Drive, could not estimate damages. Approximately 80 firemen from Cranbury, Jamesburg and Hightstown helped fight the blaze, which was doused at 2 a.m. and was finally brought under control two and a half hours later. Richard Spitzer of Jamesburg was treated for burns on both hands suffered from the heat of the fire.

Smoke and flames, shooting hundreds of feet in the air, were visible for miles and attracted scores of spectators. Water to fight the fire had to be pumped from the irrigation system of a nearby farm and brought to the scene in pumpers.

The blaze apparently started in an office section of the one-story building and swept through the interior, gutting corporations for $20 million. At that time he made a $100,000 deposit on the sale.

Since then, Mr. Stavola deposited a half million dollars in escrow with a Long Island bank as part of the cash down payment of $4 million dollars which was due on March 23, 1966, the closing date of the sale.

He will argue in Superior Court on October 17 that the executors and stockholders refused to complete the sale.

Defendants in the suit are executors Blanche Judith Gilbert, widow of W. Gilbert; Norma G. Farr, a daughter; L. C. Starr and the First Trenton National Bank. Stockholders involved include Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Farr, Mrs. Surina, Ass H. Farr, a non-lawyer, and Clyde F. Measey.

These defendants are asking the court to declare the original contract null and void, since they contend that Mr. Stavola and his new-formed company, Kingston Trap Rock, Inc., were unable to produce the $3.5 million additional cash required at the time of closing. They seek to retain the $100,000 deposit as damages.

In dispute are the Kingston quarry, one of the largest producers of diabase trap rock in the East, valued at $10 million; the Pennington Quarry Co. Quarry Co., $2 million; Trap Rock Industries, Inc., $1.5 million; Betty Hill Land Co., $2 million; Kingston Bituminous Products, Co., $1 million and Trap Rock, Inc. (of Pennsylvania), $1 million.

A major point of disagreement between the defendant and Mr. Stavola involves ownership of the present stockpile of stone at the quarries.

YOUTH FINED $105
Stone Throwing, William H. Forbinton, 17, 122 Grove Avenue, was fined $100 and $5 court costs Monday by Judge Magistrate Theodore T. Yarnall. For throwing stones onto Nassau Street. The motor vehicle charge carries a mandatory minimum fine of that amount.

Five drivers paid fines for speeding. They are Mrs. Olga T. Smith, 53, 320 Western Way, $20; C. M. Jones Jr., 37, Heather Lane, $30; Eugene A. Jackson, 41, Cherry Valley Road, 527, Beveridge M. Novius, 22, 83 Columbia, Hopewell, $25; and David S. Johnson, 19, 80 Calhoun Drive, $25. For driving unregistered vehicles. Miss Clara A. King, 20, 80 Battle Road, $25; and Antonio J. Procazio, 17, 114 Linden Lane, paid $15 each.

Stuart Rider, 221 Witherspoon Street, was fined $15 for late inspection. Mrs. Ruth Edmonds, Province Line Road, and Mrs. Carol Stoddard, 184 Dods Lane, pleaded not guilty to the same offense and each offense was ordered to pay $5 court costs. Mrs. Barbara Bloch, 41, 30 Jefferson Road, paid $10 for no license in possession.

In Township Court last week Harold Riddell, 50, of West Long Branch, and Cordeau Watter, 37, 21 Birch Avenue, were fined $25 each as disorderly persons. Both were charged with entering a home on Lehigh Avenue without the owner's permission where they damaged windows and a door.

Dean Matlack, 20, of Trenton, pleaded guilty to two charges of mail larceny. He was sentenced to 24 days in Mercer County Jail but was released because he had already spent the month time in jail waiting for his hearing to come up before Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr.

Paul Robeson, 19, and Robert Danahorn, 18, both of Trenton, both charged with breaking and entering, were turned over to Mercer County authorities to await action by a Grand Jury. They were charged with Donatdon was also charged with possession of stolen property he had allegedly obtained from a burglary of a Borough service station. Bail for that offense was $200.

APPOINTMENTS MADE
To Hospital Staff, Dr. Ervin O. Hirsch has been named the first full time director of medical education at Princeton Hospital and Frank X. Schoeck has been appointed director of the social service department. The Hospital announced this week.

Dr. Hirsch, a 1946 graduate of Harvard Medical School, will assume his new duties in mid-August. He will be responsible for supervising the resident physicians in the three-year training program of the hospital. He will also be an attending physician on the medical and dental staff.

A native of Vienna, Austria, he will direct recruiting, interviewing and selecting applicants for the Hospital's residency general practice program. He will report to the assistant administrator and the chairman of the medical staff resident committee.

Prior to accepting the position at Princeton Hospital, Dr. Hirsch has been the director of medical education at a long-term community hospital, an assistant clinical professor of medicine at Seton Hall Medical School and an assistant in medicine at Columbia Medical School. He has also been working with the New Jersey Hospital Association in Princeton as director of a project to evaluate medical internship experience in the state.

As medical education director at Princeton Hospital, Dr. Hirsch will be an ex-officio member of several hospital committees. He lives with his wife and three teenage children at 221 Shady Brook Lane.

Mr. Schoeck comes to Princeton after working for more than a year as director of the social service department at Retreat State Hospital in Hunko Creek, Pa. He started his professional career in 1935 as a caseworker with Catholic Charities Family Service in Yonkers, N. Y.

After receiving a master's degree from Fordham University and a PhD degree from the University of Pennsylvania, he worked as a senior case worker at the Children's Service Center, a private psychiatric clinic in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Pa. In 1964 he became executive director of the Luzerne County Child Welfare Service. Mr. Schneck is a charter member of the National Association of Social Workers and the Academy of Certified Social Workers. He, his wife and their three children live in a hospital residence on Henry Avenue.

"I BOUGHT A GUITAR..." And began to sing: "I've got a tree on my back and when it grows, I'll grow, too..." It's hard to imagine a child who doesn't know what imagination is, but Lea Dratfield discovered when she took her guitar and her folk songs to Trenton's disadvantaged children, that the concept of "imagination" was alien to many youngsters in her audience.

That "Imagination Song" is a great favorite, the one with the line about the tree on my back," Mrs. Dratfield says. "I ask the boys and girls to imagine a circle filled with talking animals and talking objects, and then to make up their own lines to a song."

Lea Dratfield is petite, sparkling and striking, with richly auburn hair and the softest voice with a young child and a folk song.

"I used to be a girl vocalist with those big bands in the '40's," she smiles, "so when my children were in nursery school, I bought a cheap guitar and decided to go back to singing—this time to the kids."

"I discovered the children were interested in what the songs SAID, so I began using folk songs as a tool, and I got calls from other nursery schools to come and sing to their children."

"Using the songs to draw the children out—I am excited and stimulated by this concept! So I bought a better guitar..."

Freedom Through Singing. Twice each week, she takes her guitar to one of the nine United Progress pre-kindergarten centers in Trenton. The children are about four years old, boys and girls who will never in the world see the inside of a nursery school.

Shy and inarticulate but frequently very bright, they have relaxed into clearer and freer speech as a result of singing with Lea Dratfield.

"I use as many activity songs as possible, because large-muscle activity is so important at this age," Mrs. Dratfield says. "I have them clap, whistle, sneeze, yawn—Everything do what he wants!" I say sometimes. And it is so wonderful the way they soak it all up—they are like little sponges."

She always asks everyone's name, and this not only makes a bridge between singer and audience, but actually helps these children to establish self-identity. Sometimes there are names that fit beautifully into those rhyming songs Mrs. Dratfield teaches:

"I know a girl named Susie—she's too choosy." (Imagine the giggles after somebody thought up that line!)

At the beginning, she strums a song they all know, usually "Michael, Row The Boat Ashore." Then she gets individual boys and girls to perform in such clauses as "Did You Ever See a Lassie?" and after something vigorously rhythmic, like Pete Seeger's "Jim Along Josie," she will have everyone rest with eyes closed while she sings a lullaby. Maybe it's "Hush Little Baby," or a lullaby in Yiddish or Nigerian.

By the end of the half hour, she is acting out "squirm like a worm" by squirming along the floor herself, with a happy trail of followers squirming along behind her.

"I feel like the Pied Piper sometimes!" she laughs.

Rolling around the floor like a ball, or squirming along the floor like a worm, the children develop self-expression, a sense of freedom—and that priceless thing called "imagination."

Last year, Mrs. Dratfield

... INCLUDING CZECHOSLOVAKIAN! Lea Dratfield, the Harris Road folk singer, may take her tape recorder to Czechoslovakia this summer to expand her repertoire of folk songs. She already knows 25 Yiddish songs she learned during six years' residence in Roosevelt, N. J., and dozens of others besides. Before she came in French to a group of disadvantaged Trenton children, they hadn't grasped the concept of "another language." Is folk music a tool? FINAL PROGRAM SET
 In PHS Summer Music. The closing program of the 15th annual Princeton High School Summer Music Department series will be held Thursday evening at 8 in the school auditorium.

Featured in the final program will be the school band and orchestra, guitar and choral groups and the string quartet and woodwind ensemble. It is open to the public without charge.

The summer session is directed by Sylvia Friedman and William Trego, assisted by Mrs. Nancianne Purrella. Other members of the staff are Walter Horner, Roger McKinney, John Heiss, Thompson, Mrs. Tyle Helms, Joan Cordas and Mrs. Marion Lombard.

Twice The Room
 For Park Lane Furniture. John H. Kozulski, president of Park Lane Furniture Company, announced this week at ground breaking ceremonies for a new building that the company is more than doubling its present showroom facilities of its Early American Shop.

The new building will be located opposite the present site of the firm at 1673-83 North 10th Avenue in Trenton. The new construction will increase space from 24,000 square feet to more than 60,000 square feet, making Park Lane the largest furniture and gift store in the Delaware Valley.

In the new Early American Shop will be furniture showrooms, a completely equipped cabinet and furniture refinishing shop, a customer service area which will speed deliveries and a carpet and rug workshop.

Space will also be available for conference rooms for civic functions, for community affairs, decorating classrooms and for community teen-age activities. The new building, situated in Ewing Township, will be styled with a Colonial facade.

STUNG BY HORNETS
 Man Passes Out. Quick-thinking by Robert Rens, 21, a student living at 15 Hubben Road, may have saved his life Saturday morning.
 Mr. Rens called the police at 9:25 to say that he just had been bitten by several yellow jackets and that he wasn't feeling well. Sgt. Theodore Lewis and Ptl. Charles Harris responded. Soon after their arrival the victim lost consciousness. They immediately administered oxygen and called an ambulance.

Bitten about the face and legs, Mr. Rens, was given a shot of adrenalin at Princeton Hospital and admitted. He was released later that morning.

PRESSURE IS APPLIED
 To Use Union Janitors. Lt. Forrest Nizgore of the Borough police has revealed that during the past few weeks there have been reports from merchants and business firms in the Princeton area that they have been told to start using janitorial services which are unionized.

According to Lt. Maguire, the firms are being asked the name of the janitorial service they use. They are then told, "You better start using union labor."

MIAMI WORKCREW: Among the 41 young people from this area who leave next Wednesday to assist in Miami anti-racism program are (from left) Peter Wenzel, 16, of Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church; George Cervera, 17, and Bob Wells, 17, both of First Presbyterian Church. The two-week program includes converting an old building into a community center for Cuban refugees and a new church project with a Negro congregation. Chief Photo

Mrs. Margaret D. Day, 83, 202 Morrison Avenue, Hightstown, died July 20 at her home. She was the widow of J. E. Day.

Born in Millstone Township, Mrs. Day was a lifelong resident of Hightstown and a member of the First Baptist Church. She had operated Day's Hardware Store since the death of her husband. She also participated in the Live Wire Society, the Women's Association and the Flower Committee.

She was one of the oldest members and past master of Windsor Forge No. 40 and was active in many civic and charitable organizations.

Mrs. Day is survived by several nieces and nephews. A service will be held at a Hightstown funeral home, with interment in East Windsor Cemetery.

Mrs. Louis Kukabik, 70, 5099 Pennington Road, died July 20 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Forman, with whom she had lived for the last 25 years.

She is survived by her husband, Louis Kukabik; two daughters, Mrs. Hugh Devlin of Tuxedo and Mrs. E. E. Egan and five grand children. A service will be held at a Pennington funeral home, followed by interment at St. James Roman Catholic Church, Interment was in St. Hedwig's Cemetery, Trenton.

Mrs. Sarah C. Craner, 77, 60 Cranbury Park Road, died July 23 in Princeton Hospital after a long illness.

A native of Wyoming, Pa., she was a resident of Cranbury for 35 years. She received a commendation for her services during World War I as a trained nurse in the Nurses Corps.

An antique dealer in Cranbury, she was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Cranbury and the Cranbury Women's Club. She was formerly a Republican county committeewoman.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. Frederick S. Craner, a son, Stephen G. of Kensington, Md.; and four grandchildren. A service will be held at a funeral home.

CARD OF THANKS
The family of the late OAKS J. May wishes to thank the friends and friends for their kindness and many expressions of condolence received during our recent bereavement.

A native of Norway and a retired machinist, he was employed for 30 years by the Roy Engineering and Iron Works of Brooklyn. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Farnet, 81, two daughters, Mrs. Willis Lankenau of New Providence and Mrs. Karl Tompkins of Princeton, three brothers in Norway and 10 grandchildren.

A service was held at the Bunker Hill Lutheran Church in Griggstown, Interment was in Griggstown Cemetery, under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

William C. Sanders, 84, Cranbury-Princeton Road, died on July 24 in Princeton Hospital after a short illness. A native of Trenton, he was a mechanic with the R.C. Maffei Company for 55 years before his retirement.

He is survived by his wife, Mary W. Sanders; two sons, Robert C. at home and William A. of Chester, Pa.; one daughter, Mrs. Jewell B. Wright of Cranbury; 11 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

The service was held at a funeral home in Cranbury, Interment was in Dutch Neck Cemetery.

Mrs. Veronica Setlock, 59, Hightstown-Trenton Road, Pennington, died July 23 in Elizabeth Hospital after a short illness. Born in Passaic, she had lived in Pennington for two years after moving there from Flemington.

Survivors include her husband, Bruno Setlock; daughter, Mrs. Deborah Giamarco of Hillsborough Township; two sisters, four brothers and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held in Manville following by requiem high mass at St. Joseph's Church, Easton, followed by interment in Sacred Heart Cemetery, Hillsborough.

We want to know about it," said Lt. La. Maguire. He said the police would accept any information. "We don't want any Molotov Cocktails and brick-bats thrown by the Starry child, added, but we don't want to call on the teenagers in the town if they are not involved."

STAR TAVERN HIT
By Daylight Raids. Two unmarked, armed robbers, one brandishing a sawed-off shotgun, broke into the Star Tavern, 9 Birch Avenue, Friday afternoon, and then escaped in a stolen car.

Owner Aaron Starr of Trenton told police that the two sat at the bar for almost three hours before the robbery, around 2:30, walked outside and returned shortly with a paper bag. Withdrawing a shotgun from the bag, he shouted, "This is a stickup!" Simultaneously, the second man, a silver pistol in his hand, jumped over the bar and scooped $168 from the cash register.

Five customers in the bar at the time were taken into a washroom by the shotgun bandit who collected $10 from them. He ordered them to remain inside for 15 minutes.

Mr. Starr, meanwhile, was looking down the barrel of a pistol and hearing, "I want more money than you or I'll kill you." Police quoted him as saying he handed over his wallet, a roll of cash and jewelry valued at $100. The pair then forced Mr. Starr into a washroom and fled.

Detective Fred Porter is conducting the investigation, which is being assisted by Sgt. Anthony Nini and P.I. David Potts.

TWO BECOME CITIZENS
In Trenton Ceremony. Two residents of the Princeton area became United States citizens Tuesday at a ceremony held in the U. S. District Court, Trenton. They were among 40 men and women who took the oath of allegiance before Judge Arthur B. Guadagni.

Included in the group were Marie Leight, 78, of Little Lane, a native of Italy, and Joseph Hadad, Prince 10 in Hightstown.

AN INTERESTING BLEND - A typical split-level plan with all the practical benefits but vastly enhanced with some contemporary touches.
The exterior is mellow white washed brick. The interior has a full height stairwell and latticed balustrade locking down to the carpeted living room with its fireplace wall and wide window with sitting rail. The separate dining room glows with indirect lighting. Doors from both the dining room and a convenient kitchen lead to a screened, flagstone porch. A children's playroom is on the lower level, where the upper levels have five bedrooms and two baths. Two-car garage. In quiet, safe Edgerstone and protected at the back by the shady Hun School.
$58,500

ENJOY THE SOFT DAYS OF SUMMER
in this tree shaded Victorian-style house in Rocky Hill. Seven rooms, two baths, full cellar, enormous attic, new heating system, and central air conditioning. Plus a sparkling new swimming pool completely enclosed, with full utilization system and a heater to stretch the swimming season. For the fall, the children go to the Princeton schools. Only $33,900

STONE VICTORIAN whose classic lines are still very much there, but the interior needs complete restoration (and we do mean complete).
Countless rooms, three fireplaces, lex bathrooms - more than 4000 square feet under roof. To one side there is a small stone building which would make the most attractive guest house anywhere. More than an acre dotted with lowering shade trees. Near Saw-den Lane. $55,000

VERY HIP in the roof, that is. A new Colonial with a hipped roof and good lines on an acre just north of Princeton. Wide entry hall, living room, paneled study with fireplace, separate dining room with chair rail and spacious kitchen with family breakfast area. On the second floor, a master bedroom with bath, plus three other bedrooms and bath. Full basement;
two-car garage. $56,900

EVEN IN SUMMER this comfortable town house has much merit. A center hall runs the full house depth, and the living room, dining room, and study are spacious and cool, with high ceilings. Kitchen, butler's pantry, and extra room for laundry or playroom. Unusual three sided brick terrace accessible from French doors from the living room or the dining room. Four bedrooms, three baths, plus servants' rooms. Full third floor. Small garden.
Garage. $80,000

NO CURVES HERE. A straight forward Colonial just five years old with mellow cedar shaker. A ample center hall opens to a formal dining room and sunken living room with fireplace. Paneled study, well equipped kitchen with dining area, powder room. Beautiful breezy screened porch. 4 bedrooms and 2 baths upstairs. Full cellar and two car garage. Well landscaped grounds. $51,500

THE GREAT ROAD PLAYERS share a final bond of punch with the audience after Sunday night's performance in the Princeton Day School Theatre. A zoning problem, compounded by money troubles, has the Players in a last-ditch fight for survival. Story this page.

News Of The THEATRES

ZONING SCORES TKO
On Great Road Players. The Great Road Players, who recently survived a round with the tax collector, have now been whittled by the Township executive director. Young, talented, and highly respected by older Princetonians interested in the theatre, he has spent the week-end fighting for the Players' survival.

"Only a miracle can help us," is the appraisal of John Lithgow, executive director. Young, talented, and highly respected by older Princetonians interested in the theatre, he has spent the week-end fighting for the Players' survival.

The cast in this week's episode includes an anonymous "angel" who offers $5,000 to the Players if: 1) they can find another theatre; 2) if they can raise matching funds. The deadline is this weekend. (See Mailbox, page 2).

Murray Theatre—Maybe. Also mounting to the rescue (and checking the fifth first) is Theatre Intime President Edward Townley, who says, "Murray Theatre will be available—Continued on Page 2."

IT'S NEW To Us

NEED A CABINET?

On a Woodstock? Afters! Is right out there, bobbed that duty-leaved tree, and what could be a better time to plan the remodeling you want to do?

If you need complete new kitchen cabinets or just a pine woodbox to hold the logs for your study fire, take your thoughts to Woolsey and Cadwallader, the lumber yard and shop in Pennington.

Woolsey and C. has been sawing, planning and dovetailing since 1894, and they have a shop bigger than anything you've seen since the last time you were in Palmer Stadium. In fact, this yard is so big and so well-equipped to do anything in woodwork that it was a subcontractor during World War II for pre-fabricated houses.

Walk into that tremendous shop, and then think back to your little power saw in the garage. Here at Woolsey and Cadwallader you'll find a work table 12 by 20 feet. It's used when carpenters want to lay out the whole wall of a house, and in that huge, buzzing shop it's almost lost—just another one of the work areas, that's all.

Across the wide aisle is another big "table" this one quite unique: the only set-up in New Jersey designed especially for plywood. Four vertical vacuums suck the splinters as the sawing progresses.

Along the opposite wall is a 50-foot length of rollers so the men can handle big pieces of lumber without lifting.

Planners, joiners, specialized saws—the place is really a little factory. But don't be shy about talking over your own problem plans because Woolsey and Cadwallader is equipped to do anything: a corner bar for the den, made to fit its niche precisely; a dry sing for plants, like the old-fashioned cross that are sometimes hard to find today; an indoor planter for a sunny window.

And we mean it about kitchen. If you want new cabinetry, ask for Bill Robertshaw and talk over your ideas with him. If your long on longings but short on ideas, Mr. Robertshaw will make suggestions and draw up the plans for you.

Major alterations and remodeling are in the day's work, too. A current project is the construction of an entire fireplace wall with Colonial mantel, Colonial raised panel bookcases. The firm often works right along with the building contractor, but you don't need a contractor—just bring yourself.

Formica work, dormer windows, glass inserts, vanities for a remodeled bathroom—these you know the variety of things that can be done around a house.

There is no charge for estimates, and financing can be arranged with no down payment and seven years to pay.

COOL

Showers Today. Matchabell-course, "Summer Shower" of course. Thorne's lowers the temperature with 12 ounces of cologne for $2.50 in Matchabell's favorite "Summer Shower" scent. It comes in spray mist, too, and performed dusting powder, and roll-on deodorant bubble-bath and perfumed bath soap, and how dare you be hot!

Revlon's "Aquamarine" has a nice aqua packaging that cools you down just to look at it. "Bulk of Aquamarine" is a hand and body lotion to keep you smooth as well as cool. A spray bath powder is wonderful, and so is the spray mist in faceted bottle. This one is travel size.

What? Meist?

Yes, aluminum. What the founders of Woolsey and Cadwallader, back in 1894, would think of their lumber yard selling aluminum siding is unthinkable. "New-fangled" is quite likely the adjective that would be used.

Today, however, the Pennington lumber firm is just as glad to discuss aluminum siding for your house as pine shingles for your kitchen.

In fact, anything connected with a house except plumbing and electricity is just as a full range line at Woolsey and C.

Joan Tate — we don't have French accents in stock at the moment, but you already know it's pronounced "Nattay" — suggests the moisture massage for a soft, cool and scented skin.

Disinfecting, from the house of Dior offers to Thorne customers a $3.50 special: cologne and atomizer. Don't you like that black-whitehoundtooth pack s e e, though? Almost "pep."

Parfums Well oodges in with a special, too. It's "Antelope" in spray mist for $5, perfume FREE.

And Yardley enlivens the season by presenting your baskets with three cakes of soap and ten bandsome splashy scented towels, all in a package. The famous old Yardley Lavender comes with a print of happy blue, and Red Bones in — a rose print.

Revlon's Eterna Cream '27' is yours if this is the summer you've decided to look younger. It contains p r o g e n i t i o . Thorne's offers it $3.25 value (six-ounce jar) for $8.50.

News of The Theatres

 sensation of Waynez's showed great ability on the technical side and didn't like the play. I think they should have opened with the Mollere, as they wanted to. The board favored Waynez; but we were wrong. They are trying to do good stuff," he adds. "As a summer group, they would be well up on the scale."

The Players' board of trustees held a planning session on Tuesday at 5 p.m., their first opportunity to follow a quorum since last week's disaster. Stuart Duncan is president, Mrs. DeWitt Smith secretary and members include Fred Blachier, Morris Kinnan, Arthur Lithgow, Mrs. McHenry and Mr. Wade.

The Players have been invited by Arno Sarafan of the Open Air Theatre at Washington Crossing Park to present the Mollere forces on Friday and Saturday, August 7 and 8. At a meeting of the company on Monday, home plans were made to repeat the three plays somewhere in Princeton beginning August 9.

Arthur Lithgow, father of John and director of the McCarter Theatre, said of the situation, "As far as Princeton and the McCarter are concerned, there's no question that must be participants in some kind of summer and winter interships for the development of the professional theatre. Just how we can become involved in the matter for University study. Where the Players are concerned, no one ever dreamed there would be this zoning problem."

HANSEL AND GRETEL SET

For Washington's Crossing. The Princeton Opera Association will perform "Hansel and Gretel" Friday and Saturday at 7:30 at the Washington Crossing State Park open air theatre.

While the opera is fundamentally an adult folk opera based on the well-known story by the Brothers Grimm and written by German composer Engelbert Humperdinck, its lullaby aspects have great appeal for children. It had its premiere on December 23, 1903, at Weimar and became the first of many fairy-tale operas.

The opera is under the direction of Igor Chikagov of the Baltimore Civic Opera Company and will blend with the surrounding scenery, since most of the story takes place in the forest. Feature singers include Norman Barnes and Ruth Matern who will alternate as Hansel. Keitha Needham and Louise Zerkowski, alternating as Gretel; Muriel Long as the mother; Norman Allen as the father; Virginia Cole as the witch; Vi Ponisi as the sundown and Mary Berooy as the Dew Fairy.

The gingerbread children will be David Barnes, Stefan Barnes, Holly Edginger, Christine Schley, Suzanne Strader, Vi Ponisi, Diane Ponisi, Dong Ponisi, Andrea Bernardi, Dana Berni, Leanne Woodward, Alex Grosten, Monica Negus and Christopher Nerus.

Tickets may be purchased at the University Store and Market Book Store in Princeton or at the door. The price is $1.75 for adults and $1 for children.

AT NEW HOPE: Gene Rayburn has the leading role in "The Impetuous Yarn," comedy on view at Bucks County Playhouse through August 6.

GINSBERG: TO APPEAR At Sandhills Theatre, Allen Ginsberg, leading poet of the beat generation, will read his poetry this Saturday at Sandhills, the festival theatre near Upper Black Elk, Bucks County, Pa. This Friday evening at the theatre, the Claremont String Quartet will give its final concert of a Beethoven cycle.

Ginsberg, who has taken a prominent part in demonstrations protesting American policy in Viet Nam, has won a Guggenheim Fellowship and other awards for his work. Also reading on Saturday will be Peter Ganzach Orlovsky, Ginsberg's long-time companion.

The Claremont String Quartet's Friday concert will conclude a three-program cycle of nine Beethoven Quartets. Numbers performed will include Quartet No. 6 in B-flat Major, Op. 18 No. 6; Quartet No. 9 in C Major, Op. 59 No. 3; Quartet No. 12 in E-flat Major, Op. 127.

Future programs at the Sandhills will feature the New York Chamber Soloist, a quartet with oboe, violin, viola and cello, and a program of dances by Katherine Lutz, Alleen Fausloff and Remy Charlip on the weekend of August 5 and 6.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE

Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? (now playing) is a grim, sordid, emotionally powerful picture transferring Edward Albee's long-running stage hit to the screen without loss of impact.

It is fast-and-away the best Elizabeth Taylor-Richard Burton achievement to date. It also establishes a new high mark in the use of foul language in films.

Clay Street Not "Skid Row."

To the Editor of Town Topics: We, the people of Clay Street, are disturbed by the story in the newspaper about the shenanigans that take place on our street.

We have been complaining to the Housing Authority and to the Police Department by petition and by telephone call. Our many pleas have been taken lightly by the housing people and practically ignored by the police.

The Housing Authority claims there isn't much they can do. The Police Department tells our residents that this is a public street and we cannot keep young hoodlums and old drunks from strewn trash and empty wine bottles in the road; that we cannot keep noisy street singers from annoying our tenants.

The people that make us annoyed are residents of John Street, Birch Avenue, Leigh Avenue, and many other streets in town and out of town, and they are white as well as Negro youths.

The petition that we took to the police with the signatures of all the residents of John Street, and a few on John Street, was never answered. And policemen speak the street being skid row.

In addition to decent police protection we would like to see signs that demand slow down so that there will be less danger for our children crossing the street. We would also like to see our parking changes to the south side to the north because driveways and hydrants take too much of our on-street parking. Our visitors have no place to park. The Housing Council but nothing was done about it.

How a Riot Starts:

To the Editor of Town Topics: Last evening my husband drove to the corner of Clay and Third to pick up his car. He passed Marquand Park and saw a Little League baseball game in progress. Our son likes sports so my husband stopped on the right side of Lovers Lane in front of a new home near the corner of Stockton Street. No sooner had he stopped when he heard a horn blowing behind him.

Thinking it was someone arriving to pick up someone, my husband ignored the horn blowing. Almost immediately a very irate man approached the car, yelled at my husband to get off of his property and grabbed the handle of our car. He intended to bodily remove them.

This man is extremely likely to pick up someone he abused in front of our son, as he is extremely polite and courteous. However, it is most degrading to a Negro man to be spoken to in this manner, particularly in front of his family. Why have I written this letter? Perhaps to see if a riot can be realized just how a riot can start. I hesitate to think what could have happened had the game attending the game been Negroes.

Charm... or Unlucky?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have tried to find out the status on the street light situation along Nassau Street and have failed. I have called the Borough Engineer and he has referred me to Public Safety. They in turn referred me back to the engineer. One thing I did find out. The Borough Engineer finds nothing objectionable with goose-neck lamps spinning during the light blue and brown areas along the charming main street of our town.

Well, I find it objectionable and especially so to a number of people who have contacted me since I wrote my first letter about these lights. There are many solutions to the problem of replacing the old lights.

We could go gas-light style. Use the University property. Lake Forest, Illinois has had them for years.

We could contact the city of Chicago which recently replaced thousands of beautiful old incandescent lights along Lake Shore Drive with goose-necks. Or what is New York doing with the Fifth Avenue lamps they just replaced.

With imagination and cooperation we can keep charm on Nassau Street without imagination we will most certainly have cold, sad, ugliness. I bet anyone else interested in keeping goose-necks out of Princeton to tell me or drop me a note. Something can be done.

Players Seek Support.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

For as long as we have been in Princeton, the Great Road Players have tried to make themselves an important and valued part of Princeton's summer cultural life. In cooperation with McCarter Theatre, we have planned a program that offers an exciting, experimental version of McCarter's Winter repertory.

Our artistic offerings, however, have been very much of the service we feel we owe. We have made a constant effort to meet and talk with our audience, hoping to bring them more intimately into a theatre experience.

The people in our group have enjoyed the process of acquainting themselves to the community and the small section of the community which has responded has been truly rewarded. We have now operated for three weeks, giving two shows and rehearsing a third.

Our group is finally functioning as an exciting, energetic company, and our audience has grown in size and enthusiasm. We have overcome considerable organizational and financial problems, involving

NOTICE

TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, here on space limitations, to publish up to 300 words of any letter on a subject directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news on the right covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be considered.

Letters to Mailbox should be typewritten if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. Letters received on Monday afternoon may be held for use the following week.

Everything from tax laws to truck rentals, and at last we have reasons for being hopeful for our future.

And yet, the Great Road Players may well have to fold it at the end of this week. It is unknown to us: so did the Princeton Day School, our presence in the School's theatre violated a statute of the Township joining laws.

On Sunday, we performed our last evening at the Day School. Our own enthusiasm for our project has made us look for other locations and other sources of financial backing in the town. But, in such a short time, only a miracle can help us continue.

Fortunately, we have already had a miraculous break: an anonymous Princeton citizen has pledged $3000 towards our continuing operation on two conditions: one that we find a suitable theatre and two, that other contributions from the town match his figure. We are fairly sure that the University's Murray Theatre will be available to us, but we need the support of the Princeton community to keep us going. This letter is a plea to the people of the town to help us out. Our audience continues as that our presence is valuable to Princeton; we want desperately to be given the opportunity to prove it to everyone. Contributions may be sent to The Great Road Players, P. O. Box 662, Princeton, N. J.

BOMBINGS PROTESTED
 By 19 Insultive Scholars
 Nineteen members of the Institute for Advanced Study have signed a letter criticizing the U.S. bombings in Viet Nam. The letter was sent to President Johnson at the White House.

In the letter, the Institute members said, "We feel compelled to express our dismay at the recent bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong. Once again the scope of the war has been widened."

"This is bound to increase the already alarming loss of life and property in Viet Nam and add to the misery of innocent people who have known no peace for more than twenty years. How will all this end?"

The letter concluded, "The danger of a general war is ever more threatening and the prospect of a negotiated peace has all but vanished."

LOSIS LICENSE
 For Drunken Driving, David A. Cromwell, 23, 349 Walnut Lane, has had his license suspended for six months by the Division of Motor Vehicles for driving while intoxicated, N.J. Title 17, Section 24, in Princeton, N.J.

Italed for speeding are Ford M. Traiser, 19, 25 Winfield Avenue; Harold Davison, 68, Cranbury Neck Road, Cranbury; James Young, 31, 51 Leigh Avenue; and Cornelius Cavanaugh, 36, Berrien Avenue, Princeton Junction. Each lost his license for 30 days.

John W. Breese, 40, Route 206, Bell Mead, surrendered his license for 15 days under the state's point system.

RAND TO PERFORM
 At Princeton High, The Princeton Community Band will perform again this Friday night at 7:30 at the Princeton High School front campus. The program, offering nine selections, will be international in flavor.

Numbers include "Semper Fidelis," Sousa march; "Stradella," from von Flotow; selections from Rodgers and Hammerstein favorites; "In a Chinese Temple Garden" by Assisting her are (from left) Mrs. Robert V. Dilley, board chairman, and Mrs. James Johnson, brochure chairman. Some 44 courses will be offered ranging from modern dance to consideration of the world's trouble spots by Woodrow Wilson School faculty members. The school opens September 28, with the complete curriculum to be published in TOWN TOPICS.

Ketelley, "Boleto" by Ravel; "Cherrie," a Goldman March; "Coppelia Entracte and Valse" by Delibes and songs from "My Fair Lady" by Lerner and Loewe. The National Anthem will be played following the program.

FROST TO APPEAR
 At Campaign Rally, David Frost, seeking nomination to the U.S. Senate in the Democratic primary on September 12, will speak as guest of honor at a campaign rally on his behalf on Monday, August 8, at 8 p.m. The affair is sponsored by the Princeton Area Citizens for Frost.

The rally will be held on the Furnish-Kagen property on Pennington-Rose Road near Pennington. Scheduled to entertain are the New Lost City Ramblers, Folkways and Vanguard recording stars, singers and instrumentalists Paul and Gita Predomino and former vaudeville star Bill Bailey, who will act as master of ceremonies.

Tickets for the rally may be purchased for $3.50 at the gate or in advance at the David Frost Campaign Headquarters, 178 Nassau Street.

AUTO SHOW PLANNED
 In New Hope. The ninth annual New Hope automobile show will take place on Saturday and Sunday, August 13 and 14, with a special action event scheduled for the preceding Sunday.

On August 7 the Philadelphia Region SOCCA will supercede a Lynkham at the Spryland United Parking Lot in Blue Bell, Pa. just off Route 28. There will be nine competition classes, with cars ranging from Volkswagens to Jaguars, with registration opening at 8 a.m. and first runs beginning at 11 a.m.

At the show itself there will be a mileage beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday which will feature 40 assorted vehicles testing gas manufacturers' claims of miles per gallon. On Checking Accounts Down. One of the few minus signs to appear in the current Index is a four percent drop in the size of checking accounts during the past year. It may be partially offset by a six percent increase in savings, although in the past, both factors in the Index have recorded simultaneous plus signs.

An unprecedented increase is shown in the value of building permits issued in Princeton Township, but the jump of 1967's is traceable almost solely to a single undertaking. Of the figure of almost $11 million reported, approximately $10 million is attributable to the multi-phased complex currently being built by Princeton University near Palmer Stadium.

Property transfers are a sharply down 40% more than double in the Township, where the same, in any case, is invariably greater. On the other hand, new housing starts in the Township are 46% lower than they were in the spring of 1963. The figure is in line with the trend nationally, as the government's continued direct action which result in "tight money" pare down residential construction in all parts of the nation.

NEW CENTER HERE
For ITT Computers. A computer and high-speed data transmission center has been opened in Princeton by ITT Data Services, a division of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation.

Located at 55 Bank Street, the processing center will provide scientific, educational, and government organizations in this area with their first easy access to large-scale IBM 7094 and System 360 computers. It will draw users from southern New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania as well.

The new ITT Data Services Princeton Subscriber Center is presently equipped with an IBM 1940 computer system and a high-speed data transmission system. It is linked by communications lines to the division's Eastern Regional Computer Center in Paramus.

Data and programs will be transmitted from Princeton to Paramus for immediate processing and re-transmission of the solutions back to Princeton, where they will be printed out at the rate of 1,000 lines per minute. Expected to be added within the next year are a variety of terminal and console devices that will enable anyone with a minimum of training to "converse" with the computers as one does by telephone and teletype today.

FIRM IS PURCHASED
CBS Buys Assets. The Columbia Broadcasting System has acquired the business and substantially all of the assets of Creative Playthings, Inc., as part of its program to expand the field of educational systems and materials. The transaction included acquisition of The Learning Center, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Creative Playthings.

Organized in Princeton in 1950, Creative Playthings is the nation's best-known supplier of three-dimensional educational systems for nursery schools and kindergartens. Since 1958, the company has also marketed its products for home use through mail-order catalogues. Frank Kaplan, 10 Brookstone Drive, is president of Creative Playthings. Norman A. Adler, vice-president and general manager of the CBS educational services — Continued on Page 14

BUSINESS In Princeton

PLUS SIGNS DOMINANT
In Latest Business Index. Continued growth in most segments of the Princeton economy is reflected in TOWN TOPICS' Business Index for the spring quarter.

At the same time, figures recording the community's stability and buying power over a five-year period reflect a particularly healthy upward trend. From 1961 to 1966, for example, checking accounts have grown by a third and savings accounts by two-thirds.

The volume of business handled by the Post Office has virtually doubled in five years, with postal receipts for the current quarter now well over half a million dollars. Growth of the Princeton area is also reflected by a 38% increase in five years in the number of telephones in use.

Possibly the healthiest indicator of all is the continuing boom in new car sales—one of the basic factors used to determine the well-being of the U.S. itself. In contrast to the total of 481 reported as of June 30, 1961, Princeton's automobile dealers sold 872 units during the corresponding three-month period this year. The increase is an eye-popping 81%.

A good hospital is something that a community is proud of and works hard to maintain—I have had the occasion of experiencing first-hand the excellent care and unselfish dedication of the Princeton Hospital's staff.

Unfortunately, this picture is marred by the image of the hospital as a neighbor. As an old Princeton resident, it grieves me to say that the hospital as an institution appears to have no concern for the surrounding community.

No one objects to the necessary expansion and upgrading of facilities, but the high-handed manner and indifference to reasonable complaints of the established residential community is something that I find hard to understand.

Specifically, since the recent expansion of the hospital plant, there has been much more smoke and soot from the new chimney. Perhaps the new unit is not working as well as it should; perhaps you are trying to burn material that should be disposed of by other means; but is it wrong to deny that a problem has been created in a residential area and has not been adequately dealt with?

Also, the public address system has become very loud; it can be heard as far away as Jefferson Avenue. Is the hospital deliberately harassing the neighborhood? Has the medical staff suddenly become deaf in the spring of 1966? Or, are some of the public speakers incorrectly placed or turned on too loud? Similarly, it is difficult to understand why nothing is being done to minimize the noise coming from the new power plant.

I believe that for the best interest of the community, the Hospital Administration should CONSTRUCTIVELY deal with the problem that they are creating in a residential neighborhood in a more receptive manner.

On behalf of the Princeton

Chapter of the American Field

Service I would like to thank those families in our community who opened their doors last week to 44 visiting foreign students.

As has happened in years past, a bus load of American Field Service students landed in Princeton for two days of their three-week bus tour through the Eastern and Middle Western United States. The bus trip is the last event of the year for these youngsters. They have just spent a year living with an American family and attending school in one of the 2300 communities across the country that support an American Field Service chapter.

This week they are homeward bound, having learned an inestimable amount about America and its people. To those 30 Princeton families who so generously housed and hosted these young ambassadors, I extend my warmest thanks.

It was diagnosed by telephone.

The time when a suspected heart patient had to be rushed to a hospital for an electrocardiogram is coming to an end.

Now a doctor can visit a patient's home, take a cardiogram, and send the information over the patient's telephone. (Bell Laboratories engineers have designed—and Western Electric produced—a simple adapting device that attaches to the doctor's equipment and fits over an ordinary telephone receiver.)

The doctor dials a specialist's office, or a hospital equipped to receive the signals. The cardiogram is read, and a diagnosis quickly phoned back.

In rural areas, where a patient may be many miles from a hospital, this equipment is especially useful. A general practitioner can treat his patient at home while getting advice from a heart specialist miles away.

There are no distance limits either. One cardiogram was taken on an ocean liner in the Atlantic and transmitted by satellite to a specialist in France.

Your telephone can do much more than just carry your voice. Sending messages from the human heart is one of many new ways Bell research is adding to the value of your telephone service.

SPORTS In Princeton

SCHEDULE RELEASED

For Basketball Team. The first appearance of a Princeton basketball team in the annual Quaker City Tournament is a feature of the 1966-67 schedule released this week. Coach Bill van Breda Kolff will take the quintet that Ed Hummer will captain into the Palestra at Philadelphia for games on December 27, 29 and 30. The field will include two of the Quaker City's "Big Five" — LaSalle and Villanova — as well as two other well regarded eastern teams in Syracuse and Niagara. Rounding out the entries are Michigan State, Louisville and Bowling Green.

Immediately after the new year begins, Princeton will play North Carolina at Chapel Hill on January 2. Other non-league opponents include Lafayette, booked to open the season here on December 1. Army, Navy, Colgate, Villanova and Rutgers.

The Tigers' quest for a sixth Ivy championship in eight years will begin on January 5 when Brown will come to Dillon Gym, followed by Yale the next night. Harvard, Dartmouth and Penn are other league games scheduled for January.

The new schedule gives Princeton a better finish than last winter's, which sent the Orange and Black on the road for its last three games. In 1967, the Tigers play their last game away at Ithaca on February 18, and then entertain Columbia, Cornell and Penn at home.

Twenty-one regular games are scheduled, in addition to the Quaker City Tournament, in which Princeton will play either two or three times, depending on how it fares. There is a possibility that another contest may be scheduled for Dillon Gym to help fill a six-day gap that occurs between the Colgate game on December 9 and the meeting with Navy on the 17th.

The schedule:

Dec. 1, Lafayette; Dec. 3, Army at West Point; Dec. 6, Villanova at Villanova; Dec. 9, Colgate; Dec. 17, Navy; Dec. 27, 29, 30, Quaker City Tournament at Philadelphia. Jan. 2, North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jan. 6, Brown*; Jan. 7, Yale (*); Jan. 13, Harvard* at Cambridge; Jan. 14, Dartmouth* at Hanover; Jan. 26, Pennsylvania* at Philadelphia; Jan. 30, Rutgers at New Brunswick.

Mar. 1, Pennsylvania* denotes Ivy League game.

NAVY OVER GREEN, 6-3 — Last Score Five. Led by a one-man wrecking gang in the person of Dave Leete, Navy defeated Green, 6-3, last week in the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League. Leete tallied five of Navy's six goals. Bob Stewart had the other.

Scoring single goals for the losers were Phil Allen, Jay Ringel and John Pettio.

Red maintained its slim hold on first place with a 4-1 triumph over Blue. Bruce Van Ness had a pair of goals and Brian Sullivan and Bill Hunter one each for Red. Sam Stewart's tally averted a shutout for Blue.

The final two games of the season will be held Thursday at Marquand Park. The standings are Red, 2-0-2, Blue and Navy each 2-1-1, and Green 0-4-0.

STANDINGS TIGHTEN

In Soozy Softball Play, Rain and upsets dominated the action last week in the Princeton Business Softball League. In a storm-shortened battle in the Western Division, McGraw-Hill remained in contention for second-place honors by dropping runner-up Accelerator, 5-3.

Home runs by Don Dudas and Howard Wood made the difference in the five-inning game, called by the umpire in the sixth on account of rain. Dudas' 3 for 3 performance at the plate helped Bob Decibus get credit for the victory. The loss dropped Accelerator two full games behind RCA A, but Accelerator still remains two games ahead of McGraw-Hill.

In another upset, Shell Oil came up with six runs in the Research, 9-1, in a game called after five innings. The rain-out Western Electric-Hopewell TV contest will be played this Thursday.

The standings:

S. WINDSOR WINS, LOSER
In All-Star Play. The West Windsor team, the Lawrence All-Stars won the opening game in the national Little League tournament. They dropped a 5-0 decision to the Lawrence Americans in their second out-In the first game, West Windsor defeated the Lawrence Nationals, 6-1. The winners collected eight hits, most of them in the third inning when they sent eight men to the plate.
In that frame, John Schumacher singled to right and was moved to second on a bunt by Kevin Tytus. Singles by Denny Clark, Mark Ellsworth and Larry Fowler followed to produce two runs. Windsor picked up single runs in the fourth and fifth on a run-producing hit by Dave Everett and a double by Pete Zidler followed by Marty Clark's single. Clark was the winning pitcher, allowing only a solo home run in the sixth.
In the second contest, the West Windsor boys were all-outed by Tom Moore of the Lawrence Americans, who hurled a no-hit ball gave up a walk in the first inning to Denny Clark and then set the next 17 batters down in order, nine on strikeouts. The victory moved the Lawrence Nationals into the semifinal round of the District 12 division of the national tournament.
Next year West Windsor will have a Babe Ruth League for boys 13-15. Bill Money will be in charge of the League. Further information and applications to play or manage may be obtained by contacting him at his home on Alexander Road in Princeton Junction.

CAMPBELL HAS HOT BAT
In PBA League. Ten-year-old Ronnie Campbell has started most of the season for Engine No. 1 in the PBA Little League on the basis of his fielding ability. Last week, he got his first hits of the season, exploding for two home runs, a triple and a pair of singles to lead his team to twin victories.
Anointed the Lions, Campbell was a four-hitter and Greg Kline, unadorned solo homers and Campbell hit his first two during the 14-2 rout. Bill Schuller held the Lions in check with his second consecutive no-hitter, striking out 17 in the process, high for the league this summer.
Bating averages swelled as an aftermath of Engine No. 1's 21 hit, 20-14 shatter win over the 14-2 rout. He hit the leading nine-year-old slugger in the loop, had a perfect 3-for-3 day at the plate to raise his average to .500. Others in on the feat were Frank Caponi, 3-for-3; Schuller, 4-for-3; and Simon Boccassano, a 3-4e batter, 2-for-4.
In addition, Boccassano pitched his first league game, allowing eight hits and fanning 10 equal number. He pitched to 1 but one man. For the losers,

George Barua hammered and Johnny Gaudioso was 3-for-3.
Elsewhere, Engine No. 3 defended its first-place spot by winning a pair, 11-6 over Post 76 and 14-7 over Lions. It had yet to be defeated.
Two circuit smashes by pitcher Scott Ostruff and another by Steve Stone enabled No. 3 to rally from a 5-0 deficit against Post 76. Ray Richards, Jim Leaper and Brian Jefferson were the batting standouts in the victory over the Lions.
Elks dropped Hook and Ladder to the 500 level with a 14-5 win at Buddy Kleeber's. A five-hitter for the Elks. At the plate, Breyer Boccassano continued his torrid hitting with a 3-for-3 performance. Included were a triple and three RBIs. Tommy Hoffmann added a four-bagger and a single, and Tony Lee Place had two hits. Tommy Sheeran tripled for Hook & Ladder.

In a turnabout, the Elks were swapped, 16-7, by Post 76. Bruce Campbell and John Moran drove in 10 runs for the winners. Campbell connecting for a home run. In other games, the Eagles and Sportmen played to a 10-1 tie and the Eagles forfeited a contest to Hook & Ladder.

The standings:

Accidents disable more than 10,000,000 people yearly, and twice that number have accidents that need medical treatment even if not disabling. (Almost 50% happen in the home) Can you visualize a city of ten million all going around with bandaged heads, arms, legs, a million or more bodies disabled, a like number on crutches, many with empty sleeves or pants legs? Such a nightmare actually happens, but because they are spread out over an entire nation we aren't brought up short by the horrible facts... at least not enough to no one constantly use more caution in everything we do.  For Judge Gerber and Boys. Judge Louis Gerber made his ninth annual trip to Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia with the boys of the Police Baseball League. The trip is sponsored every year by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association-Local 130 but financed by Gerber. Wearing orange and black buttons, the boys sat behind the Philadelphia dugout to watch the Phillies beat the San Francisco Giants in 15 innings. Acting as chaperons for the trip, in addition to the 75-year old Judge Gerber, were David Polis, George Pierre, Jim Kahoy and Jack Petruno. Over the past nine years, about 500 boys have attended a big league baseball game with the former townships magistrate.

ROCKY HILL TRIUMPHS
 In Swimming Thriller. The Rocky Hill Pool swimming and diving team splashed to a light, 152-151 decision over the Pine Brae Country Club team on Saturday at Pine Brae. The contest was of special importance to Ed and Bruce Nyström, brothers who coached the two teams. Jill Agadjanian was the meet's individual star although she swam for the losing cause. She won the girls' 14-and-under 50-yard freestyle and participated in the victorious freestyle relay, as well as take first in the girls' 17-and-under 50-yd freestyle and diving.

Chuck Hector of Rocky Hill won the 10-and-under boys' freestyle, the 12-and-under individual medley and placed second in the 15-and-under diving. Tim Valentine won that diving event as well as the 12-and-under backstroke. Debbie Jilison of Pine Brae won the girls' 12-and-under backstroke and freestyle and swam on the winning relay team. Jose Freeman of Rocky Hill triumphed in the 14-and-under freestyle and the 17-and-under freestyle.

ADVICE PRINCETON, Is driving minutes away from the Penna. R. R. that puts you in N. Y. in 1 hour.

IN THE SOUTHLAND MOUNTAINS, where the prices are rising fast, as population sooms.

Move in now for your share in lovely old house beautifully reconditioned, with 8 expensive acres at a moderate price plus another 1/2 acre more commercial and a small Country Store with American Gas tanks on opposite corner.

Excellent income or put in your own money and enjoy the youthfulness, energy and vigor for services close by. Here "an old lady" could get older than she and love all your neighbors. Old timers with family trees who lived the Revolution, New Yorkers down for the Summer and year round residents "fast 'shidduh" more and more with better taste and cultured surroundings.

They're all yours at an unbelievable $62,900.

A family from Andria, 29 years in residence has decided to sell, and travel a little.

With this house and land goes their personal love and dedication. We believe you'll love it, too.
